will discuss

"STAINLESS STEELS"

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 3, 1940
MINNESOTA UNION, UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA

Dinner 6:30 P.M., Room 201
Technical Session 8:00 P.M., Room 110

While Dr. Krivobok will devote a brief part of his time to discussing the well known characteristics of stainless steels, he will concentrate largely upon some of those that are less known. Dr. Krivobok is also professor of metallurgy at the Carnegie Institute, has had a long and varied experience in his subject, and is recognized as one of its outstanding authorities.

DINNER CHARGE 65c

NOTE: The fourth meeting of the educational course scheduled for March 30 at the Minneapolis Star-Journal has been postponed until the new building and equipment of the company are ready for inspection. Due notice will be given of the date of the visit.
